Community License — Checklist & Quick Reference

Free for qualifying nonprofits. No software licensing fee.

Before You Reach Out — Have These Ready

- ☐ Current IRS 501(c)(3) determination letter
- ☐ No active IRS revocation of tax-exempt status
- ☐ Current on required federal filing (990-N, 990-EZ, or 990, by size)
- ☐ Charitable solicitation registration in any state where required
- ☐ An identifiable governing board
- ☐ Your own payment processor relationship (Stripe or similar), in place or underway
- ☐ Willingness to publish contribution, allocation, and outcome data openly and keep it current
- ☐ Mission, programs, and public communications consistent with dignity, accessibility, and inclusion — faith-based organizations welcome; political organizations are not eligible

Quick Q&A

What does it cost?
Nothing, for qualifying organizations. No software licensing fee, ever, for the core platform.

Do we move our whole organization onto this?
No. Most organizations start with one initiative and scope transparency to just that.

What do we actually have to do day to day?
Log allocations and outcomes as they happen, the same updates your program staff already track internally.

Does this replace our accounting system or our Form 990?
No. It's a transparency and reporting layer, not a fund-accounting system or a filing. See the full brief for exactly where that line sits.

Can we see it before reaching out?
Yes — a live demo with sample data is linked below.

What happens after we submit interest?
A short form, then a conversation to confirm fit and walk through what publishing this level of detail means for your team. Nothing is automatic or binding.
